

This fascinating book explores the rich archaeological, historical, religious and cultural heritage of Killasser, a rural parish in East Mayo. It has chapters on the following: Place-names, Archaeology, History, Education, Farming, Emigration and Migration, Institutional Church, Social Affairs, Cultural Traditions, Customs and Folklore, Sport, Profiles of some people, Surnames and Genealogy.

KILLASSER: HERITAGE OF A MAYO PARISH

BERNARD O'HARA

——
KILLASSER

HERITAGE OF A MAYO PARISH

BERNARD O'HARA

Killasser is a rural parish in East Mayo adjoining the County Sligo border, with the Ox mountain range providing a delightful panoramic landscape along its northern boundary. The parish has a rich archaeological, historical, religious and cultural heritage, with many aspects of that inheritance explored in this fascinating book. With a long history of emigration and migration, strong bonds were maintained with exiled sons and daughters and their descendants, all of which is remembered. This book will recall memories of another era for many and provide glimpses of what life was like in other days for young people. It is a comprehensive and coherent account of the main developments in the parish from prehistoric times to the present.