God's love for us

We are told time and again that God loves us and this is very consoling to know. We receive a share in His life at Baptism and keep it up to the moment we commit a mortal sin. When we lose the state of grace, or the life of God within us, do we not also lose his love? However God still loves us no matter what we do. When we sin seriously we lose the Divine life which we received at our Baptism, or as we used to describe it, we lapse from the state of Grace. This can only be regained by contrition and the resolution, with God's help, not to sin again. But while we may be unfaithful 'God is always faithful. God continues to love us with an everlasting love. God loved us so much that He sent His only begotten Son to save us. Our sin does not mean He cuts off relations with us. So we must never despair of our sin. God loves us and welcomes us back with open arms when we repent of our sin and seek Him again.
